AMENDED EXHIBIT II-1

THE NATURE AND EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES OF APPLICANT

NAZARETH COMMUNICATIONS, INC.
FCC FORM 340, SEC. II, Q.2
AMENDED EXHIBIT II-1

THE NATURE AND EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES OF APPLICANT

Nazareth Communications, Inc. (Nazareth) proposes to fill what it believes to be a void in educational and instructional programming in the proposed service area. The South Carolina communities of Williamston, Anderson, Greenwood, Laurens, Clinton and Abbeville are substantially lacking in local educational service. In addition, the minority community within the service area, particularly the African-American community, lacks educational and instructional programming responsive to that community's unique educational and cultural needs.

Nazareth plans to work closely with Presbyterian College in Clinton, South Carolina, the proposed Greenville Christian School of the Arts (GCSA), as well as other local educational institutions, in producing and airing programs which have cultural and educational content. As set forth below in greater detail, certain programs to be aired on the proposed station will offer the opportunity for students at the Presbyterian College and the new Greenville Christian School of the Arts to obtain academic credit, and will serve to complement on-campus and in-school instructional courses and educational activities. As part of their class work Presbyterian College and GCSA students will work at Nazareth's facility in a number of technical and programming capacities.

Presbyterian College is a fully accredited, four-year sectarian institution closely related to the Synod of the South Atlantic Presbyterian Church (USA). The College's program of liberal arts and sciences leads to Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. The student body is 90 percent residential and includes men and women from 30 states and seven foreign countries. 86 percent of the College's full-time faculty of 74 have been awarded doctorates.

Presbyterian College is currently in the process of expanding its media programs. This expansion includes on-campus closed circuit radio and television facilities. At this point the College has found it necessary to lease and/or purchase production and air-time on local low-power facilities to provide internship opportunities for its students and outlet for college reports and sports activities. The facility proposed by Nazareth will provide ample internship and air-time opportunities with a much greater audience coverage than is now available to Presbyterian College.

Among the local educational institutions with which Nazareth hopes to work is the Greenville Christian School of Arts (GCSA), a private religious school which ultimately will serve students in grades kindergarten through senior high school which presently is scheduled to open in August of 1993. GCSA is a project primarily driven by Bishop Johnnie Smith, an African-American member of Nazareth's Board. The concept driving the creation of GCSA is that of using dramatic arts and music to reach "tuned-out" underprivileged minority youth and to provide an enriching African-American cultural and academic environment which strengthens individual self esteem. Bishop Smith and Nazareth's president, Bill Bridges, will plan an internship program in which GCSA students will learn the technical and other aspects of radio station operation and audio production. In addition, the station will broadcast GCSA students' dramatic and musical productions.

Christian School of the Arts, and other local educational institutions.

Nazareth believes Presbyterian College, Greenville Christian School of Arts, and other area educational entities will be well served by the proposed station because: (1) Nazareth's president and the majority of its board of directors are long-time residents of communities in the primary service area; (2) members of Nazareth's board are and will be intimately involved in the creation of the school and the planning of an instructional and educational curriculum at Greenville Christian School of the Arts which will, from its inception, utilize Nazareth's proposed station as an adjunct to its educational outreach; (3) Nazareth's president, Bill Bridges, will manage the local station and work closely with local educators; (4) Nazareth will work with local educational institutions to provide program time for programs produced by or in cooperation with local institutions; and, (5) Nazareth will provide a well-rounded internship program which will provide a hands-on educational experience in radio station operation and audio production for a wide variety of students from a number of local educational institutions, including the disadvantaged minority students of Greenville Christian School of Arts.

ADVANCEMENT OF EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Nazareth will offer a wide range of educational programming carefully selected and/or produced to meet the specific needs of educational institutions in the station's proposed service area. PLANNED PROGRAM SERVICE

NAZARETH COMMUNICATIONS, INC.
FCC FORM 340, SEC. IV
AMENDED EXHIBIT IV-1

PLANNED PROGRAM SERVICE

Nazareth's objective is to construct a new, professional, noncommercial educational FM broadcast station serving Williamston, South Carolina and the surrounding service area. In cooperation with Presbyterian College in Clinton, South Carolina, the new Greenville Christian School for the Arts in Greenville, South Carolina, and other local educational institutions, Nazareth will provide instructional, general educational, public affairs and religious programming which addresses the cultural and educational needs, and the problems, needs and interests of the proposed service area.

Many of the members of Nazareth's board of directors have direct and immediate knowledge of some of the most pressing and urgent needs in the station's proposed service area through their local residence and their existing work and ministerial experience, and this knowledge and sensitivity will be utilized to shape Nazareth's proposed programming. For example, one of the most urgent problems experienced by service area residents are what can full-time counselling ministry assisting anyone who seeks help with family or psychological problems, or suffering from alcohol or drug addictions. Richard Ogston, another member of Nazareth's board of directors, is a full-time marriage and family therapist. These concerns of the community, through the involvement of Nazareth's directors, will be reflected in the programming the station will broadcast. For example, among the programs planned for broadcast includes "the Minirth-Meier Clinic," a program which often discusses problems with addictions and marriage and family problems. In addition, based on their experience, Nazareth's directors believe that one of the greatest weaknesses in broadcasting programming responsive to such personal, marital and family problems is that there is no follow-up, i.e., a difficulty in connecting an individual seeking help with social service agencies or church ministries from which the individual can receive needed assistance.

Accordingly, in addition to broadcasting programming specifically responsive to these personal, marriage and family problems, Nazareth will also form a committee of trained individuals who will direct and refer listeners who call the station to the social service agencies or religious or church ministries from which they might seek help. Specifically, many of those calling concerning marriage, family or addiction problems will be referred to the Minirth-Meier Clinic, P.A., or to a psychiatric hospital such as RAPHA.

Racism and the impact of racism and disadvantage on educational achievement and personal self esteem are other problems to which the station will be particularly responsive through its internship program with GCSA and the broadcast of GCSA's minority produced and directed programming, and of cultural events and dramatic productions which inform the community about the culture and accomplishments of African-Americans.

Nazareth's programming policy will be administered by the corporation's president, Mr. Bridges, who will serve as the general manager of the proposed facility, and by Nazareth's board of directors, many of whom will be directly involved in the operation of cooperating educational institutions or in the production of the instructional and educational programming broadcast by the station.

Mr. Bridges, Nazareth's president has many years of broadcast experience. Bishop Smith, Mrs. Overlong, and Mr. Ogston will be involved in the production of station programming. Mr. Bridges and Mrs. Herlong are long time local residents.

Nazareth will keep apprised of the changing needs and program preferences of its service area through Community Focus panels. Nazareth's programming, both entertainment and nonentertainment, will be chosen and analyzed for its educational and cultural will be chosen and analyzed for its educational and cultural relevance, good taste, responsiveness to the needs of Williamston and the service area.
